Program Information

This Homeschool Day, La Brea is joining up with their Mobile Museums team to explore how archaeology and paleontology can help us uncover the mysteries of the past. Excavate aboard the Mobile Museums Archaeology Experience truck before touring the La Brea Tar Pits: the largest active urban paleontological site in the world.

They may offer special experiences and programs in the mornings on Homeschool Days.

To pick up tickets for these special program experiences, check in with a La Brea Tar Pits School Programs representative at the Welcome Table when you arrive. Tickets will be free and distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.

LUNCH & SNACK

You may bring a lunch safely secured in a backpack, however, they ask that all food (except water and baby formula) be consumed outside the facility. You are invited to picnic in Hancock Park, or on the picnic benches in front of the museum. You will also notice lots of restaurants right nearby on Wilshire Boulevard.
