Springs' Otay Ranch Center in Chula Vista Welcomes New Principal

CHULA VISTA, CA, July 30, 2019 – Alyssa Branchaud-Warren is the new principal of our Otay Ranch School of the Arts Student Center in Chula Vista, taking over for a retiring Philip Parks. She first came to Springs as a first grade teacher in 2010; last year, she was vice principal at the Otay Ranch Center. She is also a graduate of Springs when it was known as Eagle's Peak.

Ms. Branchaud-Warren earned bachelor's and master's degrees and teaching credentials, Liberal Arts and Sciences, General Studies and Humanities, from Biola University. After teaching in California for four years, she moved to New York City, where she was granted an NYSED Teaching Certification and an Educational Leadership Certificate. She is married with two children, and enjoys reading classic novels and traveling.

Springs is a tuition-free, public school of choice; the Otay Ranch School of the Arts was launched in 2014 and incorporates art throughout its core curriculum for grades TK-8.
